MOVIE SECRETS

Q.—What movie actor, who has a part in Mary Pickford's new "Toss of the Storm Country," was a cameraman for Thomas A. Edison when Mr. Edison was experimenting with the movies in 1886?

A.—W. H. Davis who has the role of a fisherman in the new "Toss" was cameraman for Edison in his early experiments in moving pictures. Of the first camera he says:

"Quite different was the camera of that day and age from the elaborate mechanism of today with its battery of lenses. The machine used then was just a square box with a lens in the front and a crank at the side. It held a hundred feet of film. If I had been a little more patient, I might be working behind the camera today instead of in front of it. But after a few trials with this contrivance of Mr. Edison's, I decided that the motion picture camera had no future."

Q.—How tall is Rebe Daniels and what does she weigh?

A.—Rebe is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 120 lbs.

Q.—Where was Charles Ray born, and where does he live?

A.—He was born in Jacksonville, Ill. He began his movie career as an extra. His home is at Beverly Hills, Cal.

Q.—What pet has Mary Pickford in her new version of "Toss of the Storm Country?"

A.—Mary's pet is a tame cow, which appears with the star in many of the scenes.

Q.—What pet did Mary have in the older version of "Toss?"

A.—In the original picture a rabbit was Mary's pet.

What purpose did the author of the photoplay, "What's Wrong With the Women," have in choosing such a title and such a theme. The answer is enlightening. Look for it tomorrow.

Screen

BLACKSTONE

Gowns! Luxury! Paris in all its magnificently lavish display of dress, worn only as the glorious Gloria, exotic star of "The Invisible Fear," can wear them. That is the way you will find Miss Swanson in her latest picture, in which she has one of the strongest and best screen roles of her successful career. "The Invisible Fear" is the name of this picture, that comes to the Blackstone for three days, starting Sunday. It is a wonder picture, with an enthralling procession of stirring incidents, marvellous scenes, and startling settings. A star of stars, in a drama that is vivid, colorful, and intriguing, set against gorgeous backgrounds; Miss Swanson fairly dazzles her admirers.

"Her Gilded Cage" is founded on a play by Anne Nichols, abounds in beautiful costumes and settings, and is presented by a cast of screen favorites, including David Payell, Harrison Ford, Anne Cornwall, Walter Hiers and Charles Stevenson.

No play has revealed more enthusiastic praise and "boasting" than has been accorded "If You Believe It, It's So," which will have final showings at the Blackstone today.

LASALLE

With Anita Stewart, a big favorite with South Bend theatergoers, starring in the cast, "The Invisible Fear" attracted crowds to the LaSalle theater yesterday, and will have last showings today. The story relates the difficulties of a beautiful young girl, who as the result of a strange incident in her childhood, lived a life of fear and hate. It makes excellent entertainment, full of dramatic action, thrills and suspense. There are some touching moments of pathos, and many tense dramatic situations, topped off with a startling climax, but having a glorious

Ethel Clayton, who made such a tremendous hit in "For The Defense," comes to the LaSalle on Sunday in her latest picture, "If I Were Queen."

CASTLE

Dorothy Dalton will appear for the last time in her great dramatic picture of the Northwest, "The Siren Call," at the Castle today. It is a stirring drama, of a beautiful dance hall girl, who is torn between two emotions: the love of a man who appreciates her, and her faithless, treacherous husband, who is planning to desert her. There are many thrills, startling incidents, and unexpected climaxes in "The Siren Call," and it ends with the most amazing and daring climax ever conceived.

Neal Hart comes to the Castle on Sunday, in his latest western picture, "West of the Pecos."

AUDITORIUM

For an ability to accomplish an enormous amount of work, for an ambition to do big things, and for a determination to make every picture better than the preceding one, Enid Bennett, the dainty little Paramount star, has a record that equals if it does not surpass that of any popular film star. Her latest starring vehicle, "Her Husband's Friend," the feature at the Auditorium today is another triumph for the attractive little actress. Adapted to the screen from a story by Marie Benton Cooke, the picture was directed by Fred Niblo under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince. The story deals with the fortunes of a young widow who finds love in a highly original manner. There are many thrilling scenes in the picture, and you are sure to enjoy it.

A comedy, "Uneasy Terms" will also be shown.

OLIVER

The much-heralded performance of George, the supreme master of magic, will materialize at the Oliver theater Sunday, matinee and night.

In recent years, there has been increasing interest in the occult. Partially, at least, this explains the growing interest in the coming appearance of George. He does not rely upon a few features to carry his program to success, but presents wonder after wonder, illusion after illusion, more than doubling the efforts of many of the famous magicians who have entertained the public heretofore. George shows his wonderful subtlety in the larger

ORPHEUM

Jonah's Hawaiians, consisting of five delightfully original entertainers in song, dance and instrumental music, top the bill which is shown for the last times today at the Orpheum. Jonah, herself, is a beautiful girl, whose costumes are in modern style and whose figure is perfection. Her graceful dancing as well as singing will charm. Walter Fisher & Co., with the farce, "Go Into the Kitchen," cause abundant laughter as well as applause. The complications that arise when the identities of a dog and a maid from the Turkish harem become confused are screamingly funny. Mr. Fisher is an accomplished comedian while his principal assistant, Adele Marsh, is most attractive. Christie & Bennett, are close seconds for comedy honors on the same bill. They talk fast and keep the audience entertained every minute they are on the stage. Armstrong, a good-natured singer of generous proportions is cleverly aided by the talents of two attractive girls, the Gilbert sisters. O'Malley &

Maxfield, snappy singing comedians feature "All for the Love of Mike" and other new songs. Bell & Gray, are agile wire walkers. An Aesop's Fable, sugar-coated pills of wisdom and the latest Pathe News are the screen features.
